

I thought the nature of capitalism was to encourage competition and free trade, not to limit it because some are afraid of the competition. Shades of protectionism. One of the reasons I subscribed to satellite radio is because where I live it is impossible to get 24 hour traffic reports on regular AM/FM radio. If these stations want to remain competitive, let them provide the same kind of service, or get out of the way. That's the American way.